OFFICE OF INTERDISCIPLINARY STUDIES (I.D.E.A.S.)

About Us

Drawing from the Latin roots of the word interdisciplinary—inter meaning “between” and disciplina meaning “knowledge” or “teaching”—IDEAS positions itself at the intersection of diverse fields of knowledge within the social sciences. We aim to inhabit this transitional intellectual space, fostering research that emerges between disciplinary boundaries, where convergence of thought, practice, and expertise takes place.

Our platform aspires to serve as a foundation for building sustainable, multidisciplinary collaborations—both within the University and in partnership with civil society, international organizations, and leading research institutions.

PROFESSOR DEEPANSHU MOHAN

DEAN, I.D.E.A.S. OFFICE OF INTERDISCIPLINARY STUDIES PROFESSOR OF ECONOMICS, JINDAL SCHOOL OF LIBERAL ARTS & HUMANITIES,
O. P. JINDAL GLOBAL UNIVERSITY

As I.D.E.A.S. is celebrating its first year since its establishment, I want to first thank Vice Chancellor Professor (Dr) C. RajKumar and the University higher administration for providing us with the creative freedom and invaluable opportunity to create an interdisciplinary research institute, the first of its kind, as a think-space within the University.

Through this annual reflection exercise, since IDEAS' inception, our team wanted to share and exhibit a few updates on a diverse range of multidisciplinary research activities and events. Through our seven research constellations and five initiatives - Grassroots Action Program (GAP), Solidarities, Moulding Methods, Haryana ki Awaaz, and Data Insights - the Office of Interdisciplinary studies seeks to act as a collaborative space for academics on and outside campus from various disciplines to engage with another, develop partnerships and anchor new efforts in areas of research, pedagogical and teaching of social sciences (practicing interdisciplinarity), while working closely on empirical issues while providing capacity building support to partner-civil society organisations.

Apart from serving as a platform for interdisciplinary research, IDEAS also wishes to create a space for practice-based transdisciplinary learning opportunities where scholars can meaningfully have an impact on policy and those working on the ground. We have done this through carefully considered partnerships with a host of institutions and creating opportunities for collaborations with the JGU space. The annual report is not only an accounting of the past year, but a roadmap of our future vision.

As part of our mission, we are excited to start an M.Sc. non-residential programme in Development Practice from August 2025 and an online M.Sc. Development Studies programme from December 2025 at IDEAS. These aim to bring an interface to our interdisciplinary research work (development across initiatives and constellations) while developing a practical, field-based pedagogical orientation to development studies, practitioners and interested early scholars.

B. MASTERCLASS

The Office of Interdisciplinary Studies (I.D.E.A.S.) at O.P. Jindal Global University is a university-wide platform that fosters interdisciplinary research, innovative pedagogy, and collaborative scholarship across JGU.

The MSc. Development Practice is a flagship program that critically examines interconnected challenges in the Global South, including jobless growth, climate change, and social inequality. The program emphasizes theoretical rigor, interdisciplinary learning, and field-based engagement to prepare students for impactful careers in development research and practice

The I.D.E.A.S. Masterclass Seminar Series is an integral part of the program and serves as a key space for knowledge exchange. These sessions bridge classroom learning with real-world experiences in development, policymaking, academia, and social work, featuring scholars and practitioners from around the world.

Masterclasses are offered in two formats: in-person sessions on Wednesdays (3:00–4:30 PM at the Taj Mahal facility, Jindal International Academy) and online sessions on Saturdays with international experts. While core to the MSc. program, the sessions are open to other JGU students and interested participants, particularly from the Delhi-NCR region.

Together, the Masterclasses provide a vital platform for critical reflection, dialogue, and learning, helping students connect theory with practice and explore diverse pathways for driving meaningful change in development.

C. DATA INSIGHTS

As part of the Data Insights series, a panel study titled “Mapping 75 Years of District Evolution in India: Understanding Administrative Fragmentation, Political Drivers, and Challenges”

29th November 2025, from 11:00 AM to 12:30 PM.

India's district map has transformed dramatically since 1950—but this quiet redrawing has profoundly shaped governance, administration, and policy research. This talk presents a systematic analysis of district change from 1950 to 2004 using new data, maps, alluvial diagrams, and split-history tables from the India State Story project. It traces major waves of district proliferation—from early state formation to rapid expansions in Bihar, Tamil Nadu, Telangana, Andhra Pradesh, and Assam—and uncovers how federal dynamics, political incentives, identity claims, and administrative demands have driven these shifts.

The poster is for a panel study titled "Mapping 75 years of District evolution in India: Understanding Administrative Fragmentation, Political Drivers, and the Challenges of Panel study". It features logos for O.P. Jindal Global University, Data Insights Series, I.D.E.A.S., and FLAME University. The speaker is Prof. Shivakumar Jolad, Associate Professor at FLAME University. The discussant is Dr. Shamindra Nath Roy, Assistant Director and Assistant Professor at I.D.E.A.S. The event is on 29th November 2025, from 11 AM to 12:30 PM. A QR code is provided for scanning.

D. MOULDING METHODS

Moulding Methods, an initiative at the Office of Interdisciplinary Studies (IDEAS) at O.P Jindal Global University, is a platform for critical reflection and dialogue on research methodologies and how they shape social and political enquiries in social sciences. It aims to disentangle methods from the text and foreground their centrality and their bearing on knowledge production. Our attempt is to examine the process of fieldwork, a combination of bodily, emotional, and sensory labour of the researcher, and how that constitutes a foundation for the production of written texts. Over this year, we have brought together a diverse cohort of scholars, in the form of Ethnographic Method Series, Online Webinar Series and Research Methodologies workshop, to share their methodological journeys and reflect on the anxieties of their fieldwork.

VISION FOR STRATEGIC PARTNERSHIPS: OFFICE OF INTERDISCIPLINARY STUDIES (I.D.E.A.S.), OP JINDAL GLOBAL UNIVERSITY

Positioning IDEAS as a Collaborative Hub

The Office of Interdisciplinary Studies (IDEAS) at OP Jindal Global University positions itself at the intersection of diverse fields of knowledge within the social sciences. It aims to inhabit this transitional intellectual space, fostering research that emerges between disciplinary boundaries, where convergence of thought, practice, and expertise takes place. IDEAS occupies a unique intellectual space where disciplinary boundaries dissolve and new forms of knowledge emerge. Recognizing that the most pressing challenges of our time—from climate resilience to social justice, from technological transformation to democratic governance—demand multifaceted approaches, IDEAS seeks to build enduring partnerships that transcend conventional academic silos. Our vision is to create a collaborative ecosystem where diverse institutions, organizations, and thought leaders converge to generate innovative scholarship, develop transformative pedagogies, and produce research with tangible social impact.

The Nature of Partnership We Seek

IDEAS envisions partnerships built on mutual respect, shared intellectual curiosity, and a commitment to addressing complex societal challenges through interdisciplinary inquiry. We seek partners who recognize that the intersections between disciplines—where sociology meets environmental science, where law engages with anthropology, where economics converges with cultural studies—are fertile grounds for breakthrough insights and innovative solutions. Our ideal partnerships are characterized by reciprocity, dialogues and co-creation rather than mere collaboration. We welcome engagement with a varied set of partners like research organizations, think tanks, civil society organizations, universities, unions or even independent personas that value methodological pluralism, and are grounded in community knowledge, evidence-based policy, and intellectual risk-taking. These partnerships should enable all parties to expand their capacities, enrich their perspectives, and amplify their impact.

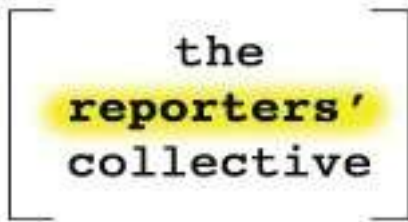

Navjyoti aims to develop the underprivileged segments of the society affected by crimes by gradually transcending them to an environment that is encouraging. They work towards facilitating each child and citizen with access to quality education, facilitate equal rights and dignity of all segments with an endeavour to make them employable. NIF fosters scientific programs and policies as platforms for enabling better health and nutrition to communities and aid communities to adopt better standards and envision a better life for the future generations.

Youth for Social Development (YSD) is a development organisation working with the duty bearers and rights holders to enhance the quality of life for both urban and rural underprivileged populations in the state of Odisha, India. YSD India prioritizes the well-being of resource-poor and marginalised communities, with a special emphasis on Dalit and Adivasi populations, as well as children, youth, and women, who form the cornerstone of our initiatives. Working together to avail basic services, empowering the communities on the margin and nudging the local governments and elected representatives – through research, advocacy and training – constitute the core of their approach.

Ideosync Media works towards integrating icommunication methodologies into development and social change programs, and to equip communities and NGOs with techniques and technology to support communities with access to information and communication skills & tools. They also work on developing communication strategies, training development workers and informing media policy to support multi-sectoral developmental initiatives by government agencies, NGOs, bilateral aid agencies and UN agencies.

The Reporters' Collective collaboratively produces investigative journalism in many languages and mediums. RC aims to report truthfully and bring out facts that the powerful prefer to keep hidden from citizens. Primarily their objective is to report on stories that put the spotlight on those in power and to shed light on how India's political economy and governance functions. The Reporters' Collective work closely with other news organisations to produce their work in different mediums and in multiple languages.

The Working Peoples Charter (WPC) network is a coalition of organizations working on issues related to informal labour in particular and labour in general. It is an independent entity not affiliated with any organization, federation or political party. The WPC is open to all organizations who are in broad agreement with the Working Peoples Charter and are working with informal labour, including in organizing, support, research, training, skilling etc., irrespective of their affiliation or sector.

A Letter of Understanding (LOU) has been signed with A Trust for India's Nature (ATIN) and IDEAS on 18 July 2025. ATIN is a community science initiative working with climate change questions in the western Himalayas. The partnership seeks to enable joint working relationship on questions of socio-ecological monitoring of climate change (in the Kumaon region); participatory biodiversity research & education programs; synthesizing and making a repository of field-based pan-India research data on biodiversity; and knowledge generation and dissemination on social ecological issues.

IDEAS has launched an important literary initiative: the translation of Baajid, a powerful yet underrepresented voice in South Asian poetry. Led by Prof. Deepanshu Mohan and Dr. Rekha Pachauri, the project brings Baajid's philosophically rich and metaphorically intricate work to a global readership. The translation is being developed in collaboration with the Faculty of Asian and Middle Eastern Studies, University of Oxford, under the guidance of Dr. Imre Bangha, a leading scholar of South Asian and bhakti literature.

IDEAS has signed an MoU with the FLAME Centre for Legislative Action and Research, strengthening collaborative research with the Centre for Data Insights.
