

The past few months of the pandemic were frustrating but they presented us with unpredictable opportunities. Allow yourself to dissociate from the harshness of reality and focus on mediocre happiness. Distance yourself from the extremes and focus on the softness of the neutrals and the pastels.

Tanya Arora